

LATIN AMERICA TRADE COALITION

May 3, 2010

The President
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

The Latin America Trade Coalition — a broad-based group of more than 1,200 U.S. business and agricultural organizations, chambers of commerce, and companies that together employ more than 10 million American workers — urges your administration to expedite its work to secure Congressional approval this year of the U.S.-Colombia and the U.S.-Panama trade agreements. Doing so is more urgent than ever as this month may witness the signing by the European Union of trade agreements with Colombia and Panama as well as approval by the Canadian Parliament of the Canada-Colombia trade agreement.

Fundamentally, these agreements are about creating a level playing field for American workers and farmers. Today, more than 90% of all imports from Colombia and Panama enter the U.S. market duty free, but these countries continue to impose steep tariffs on our exports. These accords will eliminate the barriers U.S. exporters face and create new opportunities for the sale of our manufactured goods and agricultural products. In addition, they will open services markets, secure the intellectual property of U.S. inventors, researchers, and creative artists, and introduce enforceable protections for worker rights and the environment.

The benefits of approving these accords could be substantial. U.S. exports to Colombia and Panama have doubled in the past five years, underscoring the dynamism of these markets. More than 10,000 U.S. companies export their products to these two markets, and 85% of these are small and medium-sized businesses. Many more such firms could seize the benefits of exporting to these countries once the agreements sweep aside the high tariffs and other trade barriers, such as quotas and licensing fees, that deter many of America's smaller companies from exporting.

As you rightly stated in your first State of the Union address, "If America sits on the sidelines while other nations sign trade deals, we will lose the chance to create jobs on our shores." Indeed, a study by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce found that tens of thousands of American workers will lose their jobs if the United States fails to implement these agreements. As noted, Canada and the European Union have concluded their own trade accords with Colombia and Panama. If we delay, Canadian and European manufacturers, farmers, and service providers will undercut their U.S. competitors in the Colombian and Panamanian markets.

Unfortunately, this scenario is already unfolding. Following implementation of a new trade accord between Colombia and Mercosur, the U.S. share of Colombia's market for soybean meal, yellow corn, and wheat dropped by 67%, 53%, and 37%, respectively, in 2008-2009.

The geostrategic importance of the agreements is also profound. In the case of Colombia, it will help lock in the gains of the past decade, which has seen violence fall to its lowest level in a generation. More than 40,000 fighters have been demobilized as insurgent groups have lost legitimacy, and the number of Colombians enrolled in school and the health care system has risen sharply. These sustained results are a triumph of bipartisan U.S. foreign policy and, even more, the hard work of so many brave Colombians, who proudly consider their country America's closest ally in the region. The trade agreement will build on this solid foundation.

In similar fashion, the agreement with Panama will strengthen the century-old U.S.-Panama partnership. From the time of the canal's construction, the United States and Panama have made common cause on issues from security to commerce. The $5 billion expansion of the Panama Canal presents significant opportunities for U.S. companies stemming from one of the largest public works project since China's Three Gorges Dam. With a remarkable one-third of its population speaking English fluently and a fully dollarized economy, Panama is a good friend and partner of the United States. The trade agreement will help Americans and Panamanians get even more benefits from these longstanding ties.

We share your belief that the pending agreements with Colombia and Panama can lend a helping hand to American workers and farmers at a time when they need it most. For these reasons, the Latin America Trade Coalition urges you to expedite your work to prepare them for Congressional consideration this year.

Respectfully,
